

Bernd Hinrichs

Role and Experience

Bernd Hinrichs is responsible for the Money and Provision FutureMarkets-Center and advises the management teams and strategists of financial services providers such as banks, insurance companies and related sectors. His wide experience in corporate management and consultancy together with his in-depth knowledge of strategy and controlling ensure that future management results that can be put into practice in the real world of business. Today, he gets most enjoyment from being a sparring partner for entrepreneurs and leaders. His professional focus is on speeches on the subject of future management to diverse publics, the management of future projects in various sectors, the carrying out of futures studies in the financial services sector and the holding of seminars and future workshops.

FutureMarkets-Center

Bernd Hinrichs heads the following FutureMarkets-Center:

Money and Provision >

Contact >

Contact Bernd Hinrichs.